“ Blake I’m not sure if I ever told you this, but from the first time my daughter introduced you to our family as her very first boyfriend I considered you as one of my kids. You always treated her well, loved her like no other. I appreciated that. You were also the kind hearted protector of everyone you loved, never giving up on them. The way you conducted your life, even through adversity, showed strength and character. What a life well lived! Rest in peace dear Blake, not goodbye, but we all say until we meet again! We love you!!! David, Lisa, Jordan, Haley, Noah, Nikolas, and Grady

“ He is my big brother, my best friend, my protector, and he was my father figure. He was everything to me and was a great role model and he tried his best with everything he had “goals”, and he sure damn never gave up. He gave really good advice about life, and I know he loved me and wanted to prepare me for life, that’s why he was hard on me sometimes. He did his job in life, took care of his family and friends, and did the things that made him the happiest. I’m proud of how far he came in life. I love you “bruh” that’s our humor he knows. I could type all night about my brother, but he knows all my feelings now. I love you so much. Rest easy ❤️.

“ Blake, you had every reason in the world to hate, but I know you still loved me. Even if we weren't together. I was learning to let go of you not being with me, couple wise. But just the simple fact of knowing you are not here anymore, that puts a whole emptiness in my heart. Knowing I'm going to have to live in this world without you even in it. I love you Blake. Always have. Always will. This is so unreal. I miss you. I hope you are dancing in the sky, and singing in the angels choir. I want to be there to join you one day. I love you. Always remember that.
