“ I remember.... trains. Buford loved trains; the miniature Southern passenger station in the back yard was tribute to that. He could tell you all about most any given train, how it worked, where it ran and who ran it. He was a quiet man; he didn't say much, but when he did, he meant it, and you learnt to listen. I'm far away now, and I don't know when I'll ever get back that way, but memory is a blessing. And if I ever do get back that way, it just might be... on a train.

“ Buford was always very reserved but I could always get him to laugh. We worked at State Auto many years. Praying for the family.
