“ We met Chuck about seven years ago although he had brought us mail several times before our friendship began. We shared similar addresses and sometimes he received our mail.
But seven years ago my husband Don Wall had had some serious health issues and was not driving. When Chuck came to bring a piece of mail we talked for awhile as always and Don came to the sunroom and they began to talk about the problem with not being able to drive until the doctor okayed it.
Chuck immediately volunteered. So he and Don began the relationship which continued until he passed away. As things went along and Chuck developed his own health issues we were happy to help him as he had helped us.
Sometimes in this life angels show up at your doorstep at just the perfect time. And Chuck was that angel to us.
He brought a piece of mail about a month ago and it was easy to see how he was suffering. But his suffering is over now and I'm sure we will meet again.
Thank you Chuck. You were a great friend indeed.
