“ Mrs Rice was a sweet, smart next door neighbor of mine. She and Charlie, my husband, loved to talk over the fence. Each one blaming the other for being lazy, which was very untrue of both of them. She loved to poke Charlie with her rake while he sat with his back to her in the swing! She would say "get up from there and get to work old man"! Of course they were the same age. Now they have reunited and who knows what kind of conversation is going on between those two. She was a sweet Christian lady and we loved her. May God give her family comfort and peace at this time knowing she is with Jesus and her family who have gone on before.
