“Gloria was a special person in my life. She and her family pose some of my fondest childhood memories. She enabled Hugh and I to develop a putt putt addition on Rainbow Lake Road. She even joined in on occasion and visibly shared the thrill on the 18 hole in one that earned a free game. She must have hid the annoyance that she would be driving Hugh and I one more time to Raymond’s Putt Putt Golf Course. She also took me to see Alfred Hitchcock’s Psycho. Entrance to the theater was not allowed after the movie started and the line of the soon to be shocked viewers stretched from here to China. Gloria was not know for patience but suffered through the wait. I most touchingly remember her late night conversation with her father that extended far beyond midnight. I learned a lot about life from those two and a lot about integrity and what to value in people. She will be missed.
