“ I met Greg for the first time, a few years ago when he came to me for a job interview! He brought me his portfolio and I was very impressed with his talent. He didn't get hired at that time because of lack of experience. He came back about a year and a half after and asked for another interview. He impressed me so much with what he had learned and achieved during the time and the way he had listened to the direction I had given him, that I offered him a management position. He was very talented, so great at what he did and had such an amazing personality.
My heart ached today as I heard of the sad news, I know he is in a much better place. My condolences to the whole family, specially his sister, Jesssica!

“ I taught Greg Cox in third grade at Reidville Elementary. When I saw the obituary in the paper, I wasn't sure it was MY Greg until I looked on the Wood Mortuary website. Was so saddened to see it was him. He was indeed an artistic personality inside and out. A kid I enjoyed having in my class and one who surprised me every day with his unique-ness. I will lift his family and friends up in prayer as they grieve this terrible loss. So young!

“ I knew Greg from being close with his family growing up. Greg was always such a happy person. He was absolutely beautiful inside and out. He always knew how to make everyone in the room smile. I hate that God had to take him home so soon. I am so glad he is at peace now and is no longer suffering. I love you Greg! Can't wait to meet again one day.

“ A memory I remember of Gregory Ian Cox was when he came to my house. We hung out ordered pizza and watched movies. He was a really cool sweet person. He had his own style and could dress. Very color coordinated. I'm so grateful to have had the opportunity to meet him even if it was for a short time. I'm saddened to hear about the news of him going home to glory but I know he is in a better place no longer suffering. Prayers and condolences to the family, friends and church family. He will forever be remembered and missed. RIP Gregory Ian Cox 🙏??😞
