“ On one of our fishing adventures, Butch, Mikey and Myself took Butch's boat to Strawberry for a nice day of fishing, so we hoped ha ha. Needless to say the wind came up and the waves were huge. Butch and Mikey were in the front seats, yep I was in the back of the boat. Well, the waves were high enough to come up over the windshield missing the two of them, but you can guess what happened to the guy in the back of the boat, which you know was myself. The trip to the shore was a long one, at least for Myself it was. I can not say if it was tears on Mikey's face or just water, but he never stopped laughing all the way to the shore. I looked like a drowned rat, I think those were tears on Mikey's face. God bless you Mikey and all of your family.

“ What a special man Mike is and he will be so missed. How grateful I am to have known him and also thankful for his service to our country. He served in a time when it was never easy. He was always cheerful and had a kind word to say. The world is indeed a lesser place without him. Kathy, we are here for you always and grieving with you.

“ I am so sorry for your loss. We are all made poorer for the loss of Mike. If you know the time for the Tuesday internment, I would love to be able to attend/participate.

You do not grieve alone, though your grief is the greatest. You do not cry alone, though your tears are the most precious. You do not hurt alone, though your heart feels like it will never beat right again.

Thank you for letting us all be part of Mike's life and of yours.

For what it may be worth...this warrior/veteran will stand in honor to Mike.
