“ I was saddened to hear that Mrs. Sloan had passed away, but we know that she is in heaven waiting for us. I remember her not only from church at Mt. Lebanon, but she taught me in 7th grade at Skyland. She was a dear, sweet lady and I am blessed to have known her.

My prayers will be with you all.

“ We knew Hazel from Manning House. Al's mom, Helen Nims, is there. Hazel was a very nice and friendly lady. Al and his sister Kathy Greenfield of Lyman visited Hazel at Huntington just a few days ago and found her smiling, in good spirits, sitting in the dining room with 3 other ladies; she remembered us from Manning House and said she was happy at Huntington. Kathy spotted the notice in the newspaper just today (Thursday 8/24) and it was such a shock to read she had passed away. We are so very sorry for your loss. And we will miss Hazel too.##imported-begin##Alan and Debbie Bird##imported-end##

“ i have read online about the death of your loved one Hazel Sloan and i would like to share some comforting words from the scriptures that will help the family at this time of need. Death is not a natural thing for us to go through so i would like to share a sripture with you at isaiah 25:8 talks about our heavenly father Jehovah God will swallow up death and death will be a thing of the pass. So i hope this comforted you and your family.

“ I read online where a dear loved one have just died. Death isn't anything we ever look forward to. When it happens it hurts dearly. My family and I lost our father July 4, 2005 and some of us still mourn over the lost. However, it's been comforting to read passages from the Holy Bible. So I'm sending them to you and your family at this time where you can gain some comfort to cope with your lost. Isaiah 25:8 our Heavenly Father will soon swallow up death forever. Psalms 46:1 Jehovah is for us a refuge and strength, a help that is readily to be found during distress. John 5:28,29 we read about the resurrection hope. I hope these scriptures will comfort your family and my sincere sympathies to the Sloan Family.

Yours Truly
