“ Dear Jackie and Sandra,

I sympathize with your sorrow, but Iona is with Maurice and they are both whole again with Jesus Christ.

They were both so good to Maurice and I, and we always felt so welcome in their home!

Family dynamics in various families are always different, but just know that your parents loved and were proud of you two; they spoke of you to all who would listen! They strived to provide a good home for you and made many people welcome in their home throughout the years.

You have both given much to them and at their passing, also know that you did the best that you could to provide a good place to live and to provide comfort for them as they became ill and moved from their home.

Blessings and you can always find comfort by looking to God.
