“ The Johnsons and Kings will always be family. We have lost one more of the anchors to our family. Our dads afforded us the opportunity to become family. We all know, though, that our moms made the homes. Irene was a very caring and thoughtful woman who always had her families' well being at the top. But, even in sickness when she could not attend church, she made sure mom came by to get her tithe to the church for her. God, family and friends were her life (not to leave out the fact that she was an excellent cook). We know that our loss is Gods gain. We will see her again. Prayers go up for all of you. We love all of you. Richard, Kaci and J.C. King
