“ Janie Black was like a big sister to me when we were growing up. She spent every fourth of July with our family. She was special! I think about the expression she used to say to her mother every morning before she would go to school. She would say -- "Do I look all right? Will I know my lessons?" I think about that lots of times - "Yes, Janie, you always looked all right and you always knew your lessons." I have made that my prayer many times -" Lord, do I look alright? Have I learned my lessons?"###imported-begin###Jean Garrett Davis###imported-end###
