“ Gail,

It seems like, just a minute ago, that the kids were little, and always playing playing playing at Becky's house with Manda and Rachael.

They were their best friends!

When I think of them, I think of all the time they spent playing aggravation or going fishing with Johnny. Boo was his man!

Through a child's eyes, things look different, and I know that they loved him to pieces, and that they counted your kids as two of their own... They were a staple in our lives, and will always remain.

We've travelled so far from the days at Barrington Woods.

I don't know the right words to say to ease your broken hearts. I wish I could say or do something to fill that huge void where he belongs... I just want you to know that I am so so so sorry Gail.

If you need me, I am here.

There's a hole in the world tonight...

With all the love in the world,

Theresa
