“ You are already missed, Bob. I will miss our weekly birding excursions around your place. I will miss your quick wit. I will miss your deep insight into life. I will miss your deep knowledge of all things natural. I will miss your showing me up on bird and deer lore. Most of all I will miss those times we sat for hours just watching nature unfold around us. I will miss you, good friend, but I will always remember you.
Happy eternal birding my friend.

Bob Scott was a part of my childhood, fox hunting and good family friend. I admired him, the twinkle in his eye as he called the hounds or mounted his horse. A great man! Last time I saw him with a visit to his farm in South Carolina, a special dinner and a tour of his beautiful horse farm. Sending LOVE! Nancy

“ I was Robert Scott's nurse but not long enough. There would have never been enough time to absorb the wealth of information stored in this gentlemans massive brain. A great chat in French and receive the sweetest heart melting smile will be missed. Then he declined so rapidly I felt robbed of the man I wished to know more. Great strong man with such a grand heart. Leslie I will always be a part of this great family. Each fabric of that home was embedded with Mr. Scott and you and your love. My sorrow is deep but yet I know he is fox hunting with no pain on his favorite horse.
