“ When i was a young boy my mother told me that we all come into this world with three things intact. The love of our mothers, the love of God and our word. Then she told me that the hardest thing to leave this world with still intact was our word, which is our bond. Giving our word that we will or will not do something is without doubt THE hardest thing to hold true to, certainly for me anyway. I am sure in my own mind that Ross was one of the very few people I ever met who has left this world with all three things intact. He was an exceptional human being.

“ I extend my sincere condolences to Jennifer and Ross Jr., friends and family. I knew Ross for for a short period of time, but quickly realized the strong, caring person he was to his family- who meant everything to him. All of you are in my thoughts and prayers. With kindest regards, Jennifer Lemons (wife of Jeff Lemons)

“ Barbara
So sorry to have read of Ross's passing. It has been a number of years since I had seen him but I still have fond memories of him in his youth.
May God bless the entire Woodall family.
