“ Sandy and I worked together at Pecknel Music, little did we know, their family would always be special to me, and would always stay a part of my life in one way or another. A Very funny and embarrassing story for me is... Sandy and I both being strong outspoken women, we had our moments, and one day at work, Sandy went outside for a break, while standing behind my old Beater of a Van, I came outside and she said .. what is that stuffing leaking out of your van... I said Gas .. LOL, if you know Sandy, you can imagine the Words she had for me! Not to mention she was standing there right beside it with a Lighter! Needless to say, I was TOLD right then she would be picking me up and taking me home until I could get reliable and safe transportation! Lol. She looked out for me, and a lot of people, even if at first you didn't realize that's what she was doing. ❤️

My memories of our cousin, Sandy, stand alongside her husband, Joel. I suppose because I got best acquainted with her in Miami, once she was married. I remember her laugh, as she always seemed to be smiling and finding humor along the way. She always reminded me of her mother, my dear Aunt Jean. Maybe this is because she was also a very devoted mother and grandmother herself. I send you my condolences and prayers for your comfort as your hearts open, to make room for her new home. Surely she will continue to watch over all of you, and await your reunion, when it is meant to be. Fondly, Lori Ann DiLucchio Kinder
