“ This is so hard to believe. I thought she was doing ok. She was my daughter and I counselor and she was the best! I loved her and so did my daughter. I pray for the family and her son.

“ There are too many wonderful memories to share just one... but I am so very thankful that God gave me your friendship for many, many years. And loved every minute of being your roomie! The friendship that our group had surpasses time and circumstances. And we will all miss you so very, very much. I love you sweet Tara, and I know that I will get to hug your neck again one day!

“ Tara was my son's counselor . When I first met Tara one of the first comments that she made was when she said told me about her son, Justus. She said she did the best she could raising him, teaching him right and wrong and allowing him to make mistakes when he was young. Those mistakes allowed him to learn responsibility at a much lesser price afforded by youth and has shaped him into the man he is today. She spoke with a humble sense of pride with each word embraced in love. One of the first impressions I had of Tara was her unconditional for her son. She helped me become a better mother and touched my son's life deeply in the short time we knew her. We have been praying for her and her family.

After I learned of her passing I read the last text I sent her before her surgery on the 7th. I told her my son and I had just prayed for her surgery. She told me she had just had the most peaceful feeling come over her about 20 minutes earlier, which would have been the same time we prayed. I told her to find a Bible verse that brought her peace and say it over and over as they put her to sleep during surgery. I have no doubt as she went into surgery she was doing just that. His words were covering her. In our sadness and heartache she is feeling His presence now. Her body may no longer be here but the light of her spirit is still living in the presence of God and the people she has touched.

May God Bless You, Keep You and Shine His Face On You,

“ I never got to meet you, but you have been a very good friend to my sister. She is so heartbroken and lost. She always spoke so highly of who you were. I know you're in heaven now and feeling no pain or sickness. You will be missed dearly sweet lady.

“ Dear Margaret, Justus, and Ryan:
You have my deepest sympathies and prayers. We're so sorry you lost your beloved Tara. She and I spoke at times as colleagues, and I know from our conversations about her work that she certainly changed the world around her for the better.
