Uncle Wayne - Wow ! I could write memories for days and never be able to recall all of them. He was a kind hearted, gentle, very intelligent book smart man, always asking about all our "bambinos" (our kids) ,making sure our kids understood the importance of a college education, never complained, he made us laugh and cry sometimes. So thankful for all the memories we have, all the talks about "back in the day", walking in the woods at Grandma's house, damming up the creek, running from bees-(Kathy), throwing his boey knife, shooting his bow/arrow, listening to ghost stories he told us in the dark, digging up clay from the creek bank, walking to Lex Emory's store for candy and a drink.... I could go on for days.... But most of all so Thankful that about 6 weeks ago he accepted Jesus Christ as his personal Savior and now he has a forever home !! The last 4 weeks we spent caring for him and sharing long talks about life and life after -- wouldn't trade them for any amount of $$$ or material possession. Not goodbye Uncle Wayne -but see you later !!! #foreverinourhearts
