What a beautiful tribute to your son and beautiful memories you have of your son. I'm so sorry you're having to go through this, no mother should have to bury their child. I can't imagine....I want you to know that I'm praying hard for your family. I pray that God is wrapping his loving arms around you and your family to give the comfort, love, and understanding as only he can.

“ You will always be the light of my life, I will always try to make you proud for the rest of my life and you're my broski not anyone else. I love you so much and I will find justice for you one way or the other. I know you didn't mean to do this and you would probably give anything to be back with us right now and to be back with Hailey and have a lil' baby Zach with her. I miss you and I miss how you make me laugh even when I would be mad at someone or in the worst mood, you would always find a way to make me feel better. I miss you coming over on your break or just coming over when you didn't have work and you would play me in Madden 18, I miss how you would get mad when I would beat you and blame it on the game or the players (btw you only beat me twice and you were so excited when you did :). I miss you and I love you. I'll meet you at the gates one day broski.

“ He was like a bestfriend to me we would talk everyday and he would help me through my problems and this is so sad when I heard about it I didn't wanna believe it cuz I just talked to him a couple hours before this happened I knew something was wrong when he stopped answering me when I went to the visitation it was so hard to see him one last time but prayers to the family 🙏💔🙏

“ I had the pleasure of meeting Zach through his dad, Nathan. I remember going with Nate to columbia to pick Z up and bring him back to Georgetown with us. He was the sweetest boy. Nathan got him a dirt bike and he was stoked. Him and my nephew Jeremy were two peas in a pod. I can't even imagine the pain his parents are going through and will go through in the days ahead. My thoughts and prayers go out to all his family and friends.. This shocked us all. He was a good kid and he was taken too soon. Rest in paradise handsome. Gone, never forgotten.
